

Spelling Recap!

What spelling mistakes do you notice? Can you explain why they are wrong?

Dear Auntie Nora,

As you have forbidden me to come to your flat, I am having to right to you.

Our Frankie tells me you have asked her and her boyfriend to tea on the 4th. Well I am in charge of Frankie while our dad is away, and I don't think it is a good idea. Dad would be proper mad if he found out. She is a bit young for boyfriends I think you will agree. So, they won't be turning up after all, but don't say nothing, least said soonest mended.

I hope your back is not playing you up at present.

Your loving nephew,

George

P.S. Burn this letter in case Frankie ever sees it, you know how she carries on.

Your Task

Challenge 1&2: Create a table of the incorrect words, explaining the spelling rules that should have been used with the correct spellings.

Challenge 3: Write a letter from your aunt, explaining your spelling errors in detail.
