

Art Prompt – 18th May 2020

Lockdown art

You may have seen lots of examples of ‘Lockdown’ art. Some people have responded by making a memory item or some have taken to recording their experiences through sketches. People also chose to record their ‘new’ daily life. Many images are a mixture of colours, both bright and dark.

This news article is about a group of artists in Bedford who were challenged to draw their daily life under lockdown.

Your task is to create your own piece of ‘Lockdown’ art.

Think carefully about the last 8 weeks – what have you noticed in particular? What change would you like to record? Would you like to make something for/with your family? Have you seen Spring appear? What have you noticed through your window?

You are free to respond in any medium and we look forward to seeing your ideas.
